

December 2020 SCWG Meeting

Saturday, December 19, 2020

1:00 PM

Eau Gallie Public Library

1521 Pineapple Ave

Melbourne, FL 32935

Guest Speaker:

At the December meeting, SCWG member Jay Heavner will delight us with A Writer's Journey, detailing his evolution as an author. Jay is an award-winning author of eight books, four in the Braddock's Gold Mystery series, and four in the Florida Murder Mystery Novel series.

Jay has always been a storyteller. It used to get him in trouble when he was young, but now people keep asking him for more.

Recently retired, he spends his time between homes in the beautiful West Virginia hills and the flatlands of Florida.

You can sign up for his newsletter or leave comments at his website, www.jayheavner.com or email at jay@jayheavner.com

2020 SCWG Anthology

Well, all went well, and the anthology SURVIVAL is complete! The paperback is here, at the meeting! Robin, owner of MacRed Designs, has produced an award-winning cover! Survival promises to be the Guild's best anthology, yet! Remember, those whose works are published will receive one free copy of the book. Good job to all who submitted their works; you did a great job!

PRESIDENT'S CORNER

My message for this month is short but heartfelt. As we close out the year of 2020, our Survival year, I want to thank each and every Guild member for hanging in and surviving with us. The year 2021 seems like it will start out like 2020 ended, but with the promise of a Covid vaccine (actually, three of them). We're expecting this to reverse all of this mask-wearing and fear, and that we'll be able to resume a more normal life.

On behalf of your president and your webmaster,
Merry Christmas and Happy New Year 2021!

Sincerely,

Joanne Fisher
President, SCWG
