Jim Nelson,
Will discuss our
yearly financial report.
Any questions?

1. We added a New! Hot! page, where authors' new releases are featured.
2. The Our Authors page needs further update. Nearly all of our members have been published in one place or another. I urge members to send me their information, even if their only published works are in a SCWG anthology or short story contest, or a magazine article. Published is published.
3. The SCWG Bulletin is being posted in PDF format on the website.
4. Our speakers' presentations are posted on the website, enabling members who cannot attend the meetings to learn what was presented.
5. We are learning Google Analytics so that we can determine what's working and what's not on the website.
6. We are planning another website redo in the next several months. GoDaddy's Website Builder is a good platform, but we're now feeling its limitations, with the number of posts per page. So, stay tuned.

Email webmaster@scwg.org with a small head shot, short BIO (a Tweet) and a thumbnail of your latest book. And it's free!
